Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

Stop before the windows of any grocery store and nine times in ten you will see fruits and vegetables featured there. They come from farms. Our food all comes from either the land or the sea. Nothing is so important to national well-being as a prosperous agriculture. The farmer's social and economic status is improving constantly, and when farming has moved up to the 1914 level again, we shall see that we have again recovered our prosperity. Prosperous agriculture means a prosperous country. Its effect is felt in every hamlet, town, and city. Mining camp or metropolis, we depend on food that the farmer grows, and exchanges for the things cities manufacture.

The president has set aside $20,000,000 for grade crossing elimination. While grade crossings do not account for the major toll of deaths on the highways, the accidents that do happen, such as that in the recent Maryland catastrophe, are ghastly and spectacular.

Considered from the standpoint of providing work, it is one which should surely come close to enrolling the maximum of labor for the money, steel, masonry, and cement workers, as well as a large proportion of unskilled labor will be necessary in this great constructive task and its benefits will reach into untold thousands of homes throughout the land.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes, who has borne the brunt of much criticism leveled at the administration both in the daily press and the magazines of the country, still stands up unafraid and defends the right of free speech, which includes the printed as well as the oral word. In an address before the Associated Press he said: "Any attempted legal restraint, however wisely applied, would be far worse than excesses of free expression, even though the freedom exercised bordered on license. Too much freedom is better than even a little restraint imposed from the outside, because excesses, if indulged in, will in the end either cure themselves or kill themselves.

An example of specious reasoning appears in a recent metropolitan editorial. Two power and light companies serve Los Angeles. The private company does one third of the business and pays annual taxes of $1,173,000. The municipal utility does twice the business and pays no taxes. The rates of both concerns are the same. The municipal utility "should be doing well" since the rates are the same and it pays no taxes while its competitor must. The inference is that the municipal utility should be compelled to pay taxes, in order to equalize conditions and show which one is the most economically run. But to whom should the municipal utility pay its taxes? To the people who own it, of course. At the expense of a great deal of book keeping, it is asked that Los Angeles reach into its left pocket and take a sum of money out and put it in its right pocket. At least this would be the reasoning, now that utilities have been returned to the counties for tax purposes.

As a matter of fact there are in this country some eighty or more municipalities which pay no taxes except those of municipal water, power and light rates. The rates are high enough to carry the cost of municipal government without recourse to taxes on real estate. Without bond issue the city of Lodi a few years since built a new city hall costing $86,000 from profits earned and accumulated by its city owned electric distributing plant and its city owned water supply. That $86,000 in effect, was a tax upon users of water and electricity, for it was that much in excess of the actual sum that was needed to pay the cost of the service. It benefited all the people of the city instead of a comparatively few stock holders in a corporation.

Little Marjorie Dixon of Boulder street had her tonsils and adenoids removed Monday and is getting along nicely.

COMMITTEE TO PLAN DEDICATION OF N. C. AIRPORT

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce discussed several important matters at its well attended meeting Tuesday night. Arrangements for the dedication of the airport was put in the hands of a committee consisting of R. J. Bennetts, E. C. Uren and George H. Calanan. They will communicate with the aviation department in San Francisco and together with them will set a date and make plans. It is hoped to put on an aerial circus for the event.

The sale or lease of the Nevada City-Grass Valley Ski Club property was discussed. The question will be further considered at a joint meeting of the club and the Chamber of Commerce to be called soon.

On the highway marker at the junction on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway there are only the names Marysville and Grass Valley. W. H. Griffith was instructed to take up with the State Highway department the subject of having a marker placed there with the name Nevada City upon it.

Bennett is still in the county hospital recovering from the injuries received in the quarrel. Bennett would not swear to a charge against Saunders who was his "bunkie" at Truckee. Both men are railroad pensioners. They state that the quarrel was the outcome of a drinking party.

The supervisors instructed the Chamber of Commerce to loan the exhibit to the San Diego Exposition.

Only three clubs of the many that participated in the Telegraphic Skeet Shott Sunday, have been heard from at this time, according to Myers Mobley, secretary of the N. C. S. Individual scores will not be known until later in the week when it is expected that all the scores of the various participating clubs will be in.

ALLEGHANY HIT BY LIQUOR LAW ENFORCEMENT

Russel B. Farley, liquor control officer for the State Board of Equalization, in Nevada and Sierra counties, on Monday morning arrested proprietors and bartenders of four cafes, of Alleghany and bars for selling liquor beyond the closing hours, and in several instances for selling liquor with out a proper license. The late hour selling was apparently a continuance of the Saturday night celebration in Alleghany.

The two a. m. state closing hour law was violated Saturday night and arrests were made Monday on evidence submitted by two undercover men for the State Board of Equalization.

Those arrested pleaded guilty before Justice F. A. Austin of Forest Township on Tuesday, May, 14 and were assessed a fine totaling $500.

Those arrested and fined were: Mrs. Freida M. Hardie, proprietor, $50; P. A. Schrader, bartender, $50; suspended; late selling. D. H. Casey, proprietor, $100; M. L. Rogers, bartender, $50; late selling and sales without proper license; Jack Bowden, Kanaka Club proprietor, $100; Charles Bendorff, bartender, $50; late selling and selling without proper license; John Resio, proprietor, $100, late selling.

Monthly Payroll Is at New High Level

Another notable advance in mining employment and increase in mine payrolls, since the Nugget's April report, is scored in May. The total number of men engaged in production or development of mines in this county is now 2240, as compared with 2183 last month. The monthly payroll has increased to $313,000.

Among the mines which have increased their working forces are the Idaho-Maryland, Lava Cap, Spanish and Ziebright. River Placers has resumed operations with twelve men employed and the San Juan mine has also resumed with a crew of six.

Inquiry for partially developed properties or even prospects is increasing and resumption of work in old mines also reveals more than usual activity.

IDAHO-MARYLAND MINES

A few more men have been added to the payroll since the last monthly report from the Idaho-Maryland mines. The Brunswick mine, on the property, is producing ore for milling. The boring machine, a new invention being tried out on the property, is meeting with success. The company finds the new method is cheaper to operate than the old way of sinking shafts. The circular shaft is about 6½ feet in width and is down 460 feet. The power shovel purchased by the company recently is now working up on the airport at the Loma Rica ranch putting in another runway for the airplane.

RIVER PLACERS

Within the last few weeks A. D. Hughes, superintendent, with twelve men, is preparing to reopen the River Placers gravel property which adjoins the Delhi quartz mine north of Nevada City. High water prevents mining in the river bed of the south Yuba which was drained for a distance of over 2000 feet when a tunnel was driven through the bank in a bend in the river last year. Mr. Hughes expects to have the property in shape for a full seasons work, as soon as the water recedes in the river.

SALMON MINE

J. B. Truitt, who is operating the Salmon mine has five men employed cross cutting on the 150 foot level in the shaft. A new ledge between 15 and 20 feet wide that carries commercial values in gold, has been encountered in a porphyry, granite and slate contact. Mr. Truitt left the latter part of last week to do assessment work on claims near Tuscorora, Nevada.

FRENCH CORRAL GRAVEL MINE

The French Corral Gravel Mine near the town of French Corral has had a crew employed steadily reopening and operating the property. The trommel is working satisfactorily handling many yards of gravel per day. Water is being brought to the mine by a ditch from the San Juan Ridge and a long season is promised due to the heavy rainfall. A. A. Wise of Oakland is in charge.

THE HOMESTAKE GRAVEL PROPERTY

The Homestake gravel mine in the Steep Hollow district, east of Nevada City, is to be reopened by W. L. Jones of Oakland. He has refinanced and work will start before long. There is a long tunnel on the property but Mr. Jones is preparing to put in a compressor and start a new tunnel. The property is owned by C. E. Martz and son of Nevada City.

LAVA CAP MINE

In cross cutting operations in the Central shaft at the Lava Cap mine southeast of Nevada City the company has encountered the vein on the seventh level. The structure and

Vollmer on State Police

Unless a state police system is established in California and in the other states of the Union "we shall continue to look on our police service with shame and contempt, and we shall remain what we are today, the most crime-ridden country in the civilized world." This is the prediction made by August Vollmer, professor of criminology in the University of California and for many years the chief of police of Berkeley, in a book, "Crime and the State Police," which has just been turned out by the University Press. Professor Vollmer collaborated in the work with Alfred E. Parker, a graduate student of the University.

"In fact," Professor Vollmer says, "Inefficiency in police work, resulting in part from the poor selection and training of police officers, is entirely too general in this country—so general in fact, that our police systems have broken down.

"With few exceptions, sheriffs and constables are no longer able to meet adequately the present problems of crime. On every hand, and almost under the eyes of these officials, criminals are successfully making their attacks on society. The sheriffs and constables can do little about it, for they are overburdened with civil duties, to say nothing of the fact that they are seeldom trained or equipped to cope with modern criminal warfare.

"Tradition and politics are still at the helm, and the criminal, taking advantage of this situation, carries his actvties to unbounded mits, laughing while wornout police and criminal justice machinery grinds and squeaks."

Of the sixty-nine departments and departmental subdivisions in California's state government, fifty-eight find it necessary to exercise police power, thus causing a costly overlapping of duties and the forced assumption of many work details that could be more adequately handled by a single statewide force.

Vollmer makes the point that organized labor is opposed to a state police force, but that the official acts of the police, who are trained to shield and preserve human life, even the lives of momentary enemies, should be sharply differentiated from the militia, who are trained only in the arts of war.

The author details the history and activities of the state police forces of New York, New Jersey and other states and asserts that they have proven the value of the state-wide systems.

"Can Do"

(A Tribute to Happy Charlie)

Ah Hin was a Chink from over the sea,
Round and brown as a Chink can be;
Of Engish words he had far too few,
But he always managed to say, "can do."

Ah Hin was busy the whole day long—
Perhaps he belonged to the worker's tong;
But whether his tasks were old or new,
His invariable motto was, "can do."

If he were weary, no one could tell,
Over his face no shadow fell;
Our ways to his heathen heart were new,
But he tackled strange jobs
With a calm, "can do."

There was never a frown on his queer moon face,
With quiet contentment he filled his place;
The light in his oblique eyes shone true
And it deepened and glowed when he said, "can do."

Ah Hin was a heathen? Maybe so;
But he taught me a lesson, this I know;
And faith and courage I oft renew
When I think of his eager and brave, "can do."

A. MERRIAM CONNER.

CAMPTONVILLE

CAMPTONVILLE, May 17,—John Kraig, veteran SERA worker, who resides on Oregon Creek was thrown into confusion Saturday, May 11, while enroute to town when a jack rabbit, rushing down the hillside ran right against him. value of the ore is good. The company is making preparations to start sinking at once in the Central shaft, a distance of another 200 feet. The long drain tunnel is being retimbered. The company has purchased two electric locomotives and one shovel loader. O. E. Schiffner is superintendent.

MOULTON GRAVEL MINE

W. E. Moulton of French Corral is operating his property, the Moulton Gravel mine, by the ground sluicing method. Four men are employed. Water is brought down from the high mountain by ditch. The flume that went out above Columbia Hill on the ditch has been repaired.

GRACEY MINE

L. W. Cheney, operating the Gracey-Glencoe mine, reports the opening up of a four foot ledge on the 400 foot level. He has a force of six men employed. This ledge on the surface was between five and six inches in width, and has widened as sinking progresses until it is now four feet in width.

SCHROEDER PROPERTY

Twelve men continue mining and developing in the Schroeder property west of Grass Valley where a large mill was installed recently. This was formerly the Black Bear mine and was purchased by Cooley Butler of Los Angeles, who is operating it.

DUTCH FLAT MINING COMPANY

Lyman Gilmore, mining man of Nevada City, was here Wednesday from Dutch Flat where he with assistants is opening the Dutch Flat Gravel mine. The company has sunk a 120 foot shaft and are now crosscutting to channel. The gravel carries good values. The Liberty Hill, Alta and Blue Lead channels all rich gold bearing channels, join at Dutch Flat. Machinery is on the ground and when in operation will handle 60 tons of gravel per day.

PENNSYLVANIA MINE

The Newmont interests have taken over the Pennsylvania mine in Browns Valley in the last few days and placed Mr. Ernest Cole in charge. He is in the employ of the company at the Murchie mine east of Nevada City and will reopen the newly acquired property, with a crew of 11 men. The old property worked years ago holds every promise of becoming a paying property under the supervision of the Newmont interests.

At the Bullion mine, below Grass Valley, a winze is being sunk below the 15 level in the company's ground to develop more ore for mining. Ore is being mined on the 300 foot level also. The suit between the Newmont interests and the Bullion mine has been set for June 18th.

Mrs. Kimball will make a trip to the mine in the near future in regard to development and assessment work on the property. She was made quite happy on her last trip to the mine when in a five foot pit that was dug on the placer property, between 75 and 100 colors were found in the gold pan of gravel taken out. This property lies on the Middle Yuba river in the Eureka and Alleghany mining districts not far from the Plumbago and Von Humboldt mines.

Children Enjoy Essays on Pets

When the bright pupils of the upper grades in Washington grammar school were asked to write essays on their pets, most of them entered in last week's pet show, they went to their task with enthusiasm. Here are more of their compositions which both children and their parents are reading with pleasure:

WHAT A DOG.

We have a dog named "Brownie,"
He is very queer to see,
He is black and white with a short tail,
And stands about one foot three.

He is the neighbor's pest,
But does it all with glee,
Although everybody likes him,
Which is very plain to see.

He spends his life in a big white house,
And eats right at our door,
If you give him something good
to eat,
He only howls for more.

By Evelyn Lotz, 8th Grade.
(Honorable mention.)

DICKIE

I would like to tell you about a strange pet I have. It is a pigeon whose name is Dickie.

Dickie is a very pretty bird which is spotted black and white. He does many cute things. When he wants some one to talk to him he comes to the window sill and coos until some one comes to talk to him. When he is hungry and wants to eat he will fly to us landing on our heads. The thing he likes most is to fly on a passing car and ride to the Plaza. Then he will fly back to the house and wait for another car to come. He does this most of the day.

I think he is a very enjoyable pet, and all of our neighbors think so too.

Johnnie Muscardini, 8th Grade.
(First prize for boy.)

"KING"

The story I am going to tell, is about a German police dog. This dog's name was King. Unlike some police dogs he was very gentle.

One day when his mistress went to the country to pick berries, she took King with her. As she was picking some berries she did not notice that a coyote with hydrophobia was creeping up behind her. Just as it was about to spring upon her, King rushed out from the bushes. He flung himself on the coyote and killed him. You can imagine that King was petted and pampered for many days after that.

By Jane Bennett, Seventh Grade.
(Honorable mention.)

MY PET ROBIN

One day when my brother was walking in the woods he heard a rustling of leaves and a little chirping sound. He kneeled to the ground and picked up a half starved baby robin and decided to take it home for me to take care of. I put it in a cage and gave it all he wanted to eat. Every day he ate about two hundred worms.

One day when I was watching him I noticed he was trying to get in his drinking water. I ran to the pantry and got a bigger pan and filled it with water. When I put the water in the cage Che Che got in it and ruffled his feathers all out. I was afraid he was going to drown but mother said he was taking a bath. When he was finished he flew to the clothes line to dry himself.

Each day he grew laregr and larger till he was a beautiful full grown robin. Then it was time to turn Che Che loose.

When I turned him loose he flew to my shoulder and sang to me, then he flew to the trees for the night. In the morning when I called him he was no time getting on my shoulder for his breakfast.

One morning when I was watching Che Che I noticed he was building a nest in a big pine tree near our house. When the nest was finished Che Che and another bird took turns sitting on the eggs that were in it. In about six weeks time the mother bird flew out of the next with four baby robins.

All summer Che Che was a beautiful pet for me. Every morning about five o'clock I could hear him singing above my bed room window. Summer was nearly over and fall was coming so the birds went south for the winter. Che Che went with them and never returned.

Lucille May Dunlap.

PIONEER PARK ALREADY RESORT FOR PICKNICKERS

The community house in Pioneer park is being covered with imitation redwood logs and work is going forward on the roof. The roadway winding through the park from Park aveuue to Nirmod street is practically finished except for surfacing material.

A rustic bridge designed by Mrs. Roy Deeter crosses Little Deer Creek adding charm to the beautiful grove in which stands the stone fireplace also designed by Mrs. Deeter. Parties are alrealy finding much enjoyment in picnicking in this spot.

The recreation field is now nearing the stage in which it can be leveled. Little Deer Creek has been diverted around the easterly side of the meadow, drainage ditches dug, filled with broken rock, the old bed of the stream treated in the same manner and covered over again, so that the field may now be graded ready for use this summer for athletic and sports events.

It is proposed to open the swimming pool about June first. Addison Janes, who was life guard last year has been chosen by the city council to take charge again this summer.

TELEGRAPH RELIC OF 75 YEARS AGO IS FOUND

Mr. John McIntosh who was retired from the Tahoe National Forest a few months, ago was a Nevada City visitor during the week end. He spent Sunday in Marysville with his mother who is well up in the 80's. He brought a section of tamarack pine from near Cisco that had been used as a telegraph pole, probably of the first overland telegraph. It carried the clasp and a section of rusted steel wire. The wire was strung 20 feet above the snow level, the limbs being cut off the tree, which died back several feet, the pole being preserved by the lower limbs growing up around it. This line was built by the United States government and took the place of the Pony Express. It is on exhibit in the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce window.

INSPECTOR CONDEMNS CHEROKEE SCHOOL BLDG.

Mr. Dan Donovan of San Juan who was in town Wednesday told a friend that he thought the school house at Cherokee was built when he was a very little fellow and must be nearly seventy years old.

The old building has been condemned by Charles Brush, chief of the division of school house planning for the state.

He designates it as one of the worst school buildings in the state now being used and has notified County Superintendent, Ella M. Austin, that it must no longer be used for school purposes. The school house at North Columbia nearly four miles away will for the present be used for the eight pupils of the Cherokee school. Miss Madge Harding is the teacher.

Bardill will remain here to direct and supervise development, with Gordon M. Bettles as superintendent.

CLARKE CARTER AWARDED HONOR AT ANNAPOLIS

Mr. and Mrs. Will Carter are in receipt of a letter from their son, Clark Carter, at Annapolis Military Academy with an enclosed clipping in which his name tops the list of sixty seven midshipmen receiving first class badges in recognition of the outstanding performance in target practice with the big guns on the midshipmans practice cruise last summer. The badges were presented by the Superintendent of the Naval Academy at the dress parade held in honor of the Board of Visitors at the Naval Academy May 1, 1935.

This is the first time badges of this type have been conferred even though many times midshipmen gun crews have qualified for the navy "E" denoting excellence of performance. The badge was designed at the military academy by the Midshipman's Art Club and submitted and approved by the Navy Department. It is in the form of a medal, on one side a capital ship, in a tiny circle above the ship is the letter "E". On the other side is the inscribed name of the recipient.

It will be only about three weeks until Clark Carter will travel by plane to visit his parents in Nevada City before going on a five years cruise.

The graduation exercises will be broadcast over the radio Thursday, June 6th, commencing at about 8 o'clock in the morning. Mr. and Mrs. Will Carter have always listened to these exercises with pleasure since their sons attendance there and fully expected to be present this year to see their son graduate. Clark's parents, grandparents, uncles and aunts and many friends of this section will be certain to tune in to hear his name announced.

DOWNIEVILLE

(By MRS. RUBY LAVEZZOLA)

Addison Brown of Goldfield, Nevada was in town this week on business.

The state moving crew are busy painting the fire house and Ellison residence.

The telephone company has a crew of men here moving the telephone and telegraph poles to make way for the new highway and bridge.

Mother's Day Family Reunion

One of the happiest family reunions to be held in some time was celebrated at the home of Mrs. Maggie Schwartz on Boulder street, on Mother's Day. Her mother, Mrs. Ann Carroll of Sacramento, who has been visiting her for several weeks and has been critically ill, is able to be up and about, causing genuine rejoicing among the sons and daughters. All of Mrs. Carroll's sons and daughters were present save one son.

Those enjoying the day were, Mr. and Mrs. Will Roberts and daughter of Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. Elvin L. Roberts and three children of Sacramento; Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Roberts of Auburn; and Mrs. Charles Deeble and husband. Mr. Deeble came up from San Francisco Friday for a week end and his wife returned home with him Sunday evening.

Mrs. Florence Evans Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Florence Evans of Boulder street of this city celebrated her 81st birthday Tuesday, May 14th with her sisters, Mrs. Henry Schroeder and Mrs. Fred Miller, and husband, present besides many friends called during the day. She was the recipient of several lovely gifts and a number of beautiful bouquets of flowers. Two delicious birthday cakes were enjoyed.

Mrs. Evans, born May 1854 in Ohio is one of Nevada City's earliest residents. In May 1864 as Miss Florence Adair, she with her mother, went to New York, took passage on the boat, the Champion, which was carrying 1400 assengers and sailed to the Isthmus of Panama, then crossed the isthmus by train and took passage on another boat to San Francisco, California. Her tenth birthday was spent on the boat. They landed in San Francisco on May 23 where Mr. John Adair husband and father, who had made three trips to California, met them and brought them to Nevada City. They were 23 days on the water, but it was a happy throng all bound for California.

They arrived in this city just after the land of promise.

ter the second big fire and had to stay at the National Hotel until a home was built. Mrs. Evans' husband, John Evans, passed away several years ago.

Mrs. Evans enjoys her home, her housework and flower garden and is always happy to greet any of her wide circle of friends.

FINE WEEK-END PROGRAM AT NEVADA THEATRE

Rex Bell, riding high, wide and handsome into new realms of popularity with the Western fans, has the greatest role of his career in "The Man from Arizona," which comes to the Nevada Theatre Friday, in which the husband of Clara Bow is starring in for Monogram.

Rex is at grips with a cut-troat gang who use his weak-minded pal as a shield for a series of crimes that stir the wrath of the vigilantes.

"Biography of a Bachelor Girl" the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which will play at the Nevada Theatre Saturday, brings to the screen Robert Montgomery and Ann Harding. Miss Harding, needless to say plays the part of the bachelor girl, and an exceedingly glamorous one. She is Marion, artist sophisticate, who has tread the gallant path to fame. Montgomery is the curt Mr. Kurt, hard-boiled magazine editor, who induces the girl to write the colorful story of her life. Edward Everett Horton and Una Merkel are in the cast.

The second of the Clue Club mysteries, "while the Patient Slept" which comes to the Nevada Theatre screen Sunday, introduces Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee in new roles —as detectives, in fact.

The story is based on a novel by Mignon E. Eberhart, and the plot includes a double murder and plenty of thrills. The picture also contains much rare, side-splitting comedy and romance between Miss MacMahon and Guy Kibbee.

LADIES HAIR CUTTING—W. E. White, expert ladies hair cutter, formerly of Hollywood, cuts any style you may desire. Now at Ainsworth's Barber Shop and Beauty Parlor. Phone 475-J for appointments.
